ReachOut Proactive

Do you have a subset of students that need extra attention?

- Chronically absent students
- Students dealing with behavioral issues
- Homeless students
- Students returning to school after a long absence
- Migrant students
- New students
- Students experiencing trauma

Tier 2 MTSS that scales

What if a trained mental health counselor checked in on these students once a week and offered support?

Each student is contacted once a week by SMS text, or two-way messaging.

Students will be asked to rate how they are feeling and asked, “Would you like to talk with me about what’s going on?”

Save time for overworked counselors

Each week the district will receive a report on student interactions.

You will be able to track student mental health over time and receive summaries on each student’s challenges and progress.

Your school counselors and social workers will stay well informed and know where to spend their precious time.
